Introduction.

In 1945, with the addition of the von Faber du Faur Collection, the problem of crowding in the Speck Rooms grew very acute and the supervision of the rooms had become more and more difficult because of lack of personnel. By the time 1958 had come around, the situation clearly needed remedying. And so, at the instigation of the University Librarian, Mr. Babb, a plan was put into effect to relegate a large group of secondary literature in the Goethe Collection to the Sterling Library stacks. This resulted in more shelf space and also released the modern biographies and critiques of Goethe for free use by faculty and students. The year of the foundation of the Goethe-Gesellschaft at Weimar, 1885, was taken as the crucial date of departure.

It had been the practice in the Goethe collection to represent in the Speck card files all works by and about Goethe acquired in Sterling and other libraries at Yale, so that the catalogue supplied for scholars a ready reference of all Goethe holdings anywhere on the Campus. This practice was discontinued in 1963.

Except for the very rare books which were locked behind grilled doors, the shelves in the room were open to inspection by readers, and thus, the curators' (Mr. Speck's and later Prof. Schreiber's) original intention, namely to provide a complete working collection for Goethe scholars, was fulfilled and for many years happily maintained. But from now on the collection became a true rare book collection of chiefly first and early editions and translations of texts and only early biography and criticism.

The von Faber Collection has been catalogued as a separate unit, being a straight author collection with only original texts, very few translations, and no secondary literature to speak of, except bibliography.

With the removal, in December 1963, of the two collections to the new, more spacious quarters in the Beinecke Library, two problems were automatically solved: the lack of space and the supervision, for now some of the services to the collection were taken over by the circulation desk personnel. From now on free access to the books by users was no longer possible.

At the time of moving the catalogues and books to the new building, it became apparent that there was no accommodation for the file of large cards in the catalogue room. These large cards constituted a classed file, with the arrangement in shelf list order, representing the main card for each work with the fullest bibliographical description so necessary for rare books. The cards contained copious notes, as well as the tracings for all secondary entries. On the verso the bibliographical authorities consulted in identifying the edition, etc., are found set down. The employment of a classed card file was a departure from the usual cataloguing practice at Yale; it offered many advantages for a one-man-collection such as the Goethe library is. The arrangement made it possible to bring out several aspects of a work of this versatile author in various classes, which, of course, was very useful especially for the secondary literature then still kept in the collection; also, the classification could be much more closely applied in order to distinguish the many editions of collected sets and individual works one from the other.

Although the case with the large cards, after much urging, was eventually moved over from Sterling and installed in the corridor leading to the tunnel, the information on the cards is now out of reach of the public. True enough, the large cards—at least the recto of the cards—have been reproduced on small cards in order to create a proper shelf-list, but the text is reduced to such a degree that on many cards it is barely legible, and, of course, tracings for secondary entries and notes of authority on the verso were not copied. But at least there is now a shelf card which can be used for inventory purposes.

At the time of cataloguing the Goethe collection, small author cards were made for an alphabetical file (called index file) in a radically abbreviated form. The information on these cards was barely enough to identify the work, often omitting the name of the publisher, the collation and edition statement. They held tracings of secondary entries only for those cards to be made for this index file, disregarding the representation in the Sterling catalogues completely. It is fervently hoped, that some day the large cards will be re-typed on small ones with all the information on recto and verso, in order to provide the most complete description to users of the collection.

With the addition of the von Faber collection, several other aspects had to be considered. His library overlapped in many respects the Goethe collection. For instance, Mr. Speck had not only collected works by German and foreign authors who had some connection with Goethe, such as works edited or translated by him, or those reviewed by, or attributed to him, but also collections by associates of Goethe in general and a few individual works (Class Y) which by contents had really no connection with him. The most outstanding author in this category is, of course, Schiller (Class X). All works by him and those about him which did not include references to Goethe, or had no other relation to him, were reclassed in the von Faber collection. For the most part this was also done for almanacs (Class Yx) and other periodicals published during Goethe's life time (Class Yz). A few have, however been left standing in the Speck collection, since the transfer involved too much labor at the time.

It will be noted that some classes in the Speck collection contain very meager holdings and the classification scheme appears quite minute for them. One must keep in mind that the scheme was designed for a much larger collection of books at a time when modern biography and criticism and all Goethe holdings in other Yale libraries had been included and non-Goethe material kept in the classes X and Y. The latter works are now more apt to be referred to the von Faber collection, even though they may include minor references to Goethe, in which case classed cards may be made for Speck and the Goethe contents noted on the face of all cards.

The transitions which the Goethe collection has undergone over the years make a thorough revision of the classification scheme necessary. The copious notes and additions on the sheets of the old scheme, so long in use, are more confusing by this time than helpful, and so here follows a new outline, which, I hope, will cover every aspect of the Speck collection.

July 1970.                                               Hedwig S. Dejon
CLASSIFICATION SCHEME FOR THE
WILLIAM A. SPECK COLLECTION OF GOETHEANA.

Periodicals and Societies.

A - Periodicals, Societies, (A-Z)
   General Goethe serials class here.
   Almanacs containing works by Goethe class in Yx.
   Periodicals contemporary with Goethe class in Yz.
   Faust periodicals class in T.
   Note: Single volumes or two or more odd volumes of a long set will in general classify as books according to the article of significance in the volume.

Ak - Dictionaries and encyclopedias, general and Goethe.
Bibliography.

Ba - General bibliographies and dealers' catalogues. This includes bibliographies from the von Faber Collection.

Bb - Goethe bibliographies and dealers' catalogues that relate only to Goethe.

Bc - Bibliography of Goethe's individual works (Cutter numbers for each work)

These should probably be developed further by dividing the books by subject matter, e.g. Faust in art. (So far this has not been deemed necessary)

Bd - Art (Portraits, illustrations, etc.)

Be - Music.

Bf - Medals, coins.

Bh - Autographs, manuscripts.

Bx - Bibliography of individuals other than Goethe (Cutter numbers for each)

B'y - History of the book in the Goethezeit

Book numbers consist of date of publication followed by initial of author.
Biography and Criticism of Goethe up to 1885.

Works published after 1885 go to Sterling Library.

1933 - Arranged by date of first edition unless otherwise noted.

C - General biography, life and works, including collections of biographies when Goethe's name appears in the title.

C1 - Miscellaneous slight biographical articles and books that have only chapters or pages on Goethe.

C4 - Youth, baptism, birth.

C6 - Old age, death, and health.

Ca - Friends, associates, contemporaries (general and German)

Cal - Individuals, subdivided by Cutter numbers (A-Z)
(Schiller Ca3; see also X) (Women Ca4) (Family Ca5-6) (Fürstenhaus Ca7-9)

Note: Books about friends and contemporaries of Goethe class in Cal, even though they may contain references to Goethe (which would otherwise put them in C1). All works by these people, which do not relate specifically to Goethe or to one of his works, class in Zg.

Class here: 1. Personal relations of Goethe with Germans not noted in a special field;

2. Biography of friends and associates not noted in a special field;

3. Biography of all contemporary German belles-lettres authors regardless of Goethe relationship; (Schiller see X or Zg; relations with Goethe see Ca3)

4. Correspondence of all friends and contemporaries which is not with Goethe.

Note: Personal relations with non-Germans class by country with literary relations, unless the person is noted in some special field, in which case personal relations are attracted to the field with the person's life and works.
(e.g. Lavater in Physiognomy)

Literary relations with German authors class in Da3.
Personal and literary relations in the same book class with the predominant interest.
Biographies of "Forscher", including translators, commentators, who are noted in no other field class in D5 with Forscher.

Biographies of anti-Goethe critics class with history of individual anti-Goethe criticism in D4.

Biographies of contemporaries, noted in some special field (e.g. science, music) class with the field (De-Dk). Reference cards are made for these under Ca1.

Ca3 - Goethe & Schiller (comparative studies and personal relations)
(For Schiller apart from relations with Goethe see X and, chiefly, Zg)

Ca4 - Relations with women (general)
(A-Z) individual women (Cutter numbers)

All feminine friends and contemporaries of Goethe, unless noted in some special field, class in Ca4. (Exception is Bettina von Arnim, whose relations with Goethe class in Eb. A61)

Ca5 - Family. Works by and about, except correspondence with Goethe.
(A-Z) individual members (Two Cutter numbers for each: first for works about, second for works by)

Ca6 - Miscellany of family (general)
(A-Z) individual members (Cutter numbers)

Ca7 - Works about Fürstenhaus and Karl August (except correspondence and conversations with Goethe, for which see Ed)

Ca8 - Works by Karl August

Ca9 - Works about and by other members of the Fürstenhaus (except correspondence with Goethe, for which see Ed (A-Z))
(A-Z) individuals (Two Cutter numbers for each: first for works about, second for works by)

Cb - Goethe's personality and character, also psychology (Goethe's own psychology; subject: G. - Psychology. For Goethe's knowledge of, and views on psychology see Df3; same subject)

Cb1 - External appearance

Cb2 - Professional relations (see also Df, Dk) Goethe as official.

Cb3 - Various personal interests.
Cd - Goethe as a mason.

Ce - Homes and haunts

Ca1 - Frankfurt

Ca2 - Leipzig & Dresden

Ca3 - Strassburg, Elsass-Lothringen, and Rheinpfalz

Ca4 - Wetzlar

Ca5 - Thuringia & Saxony

Ca6 - Weimar (For Weimar theatre see Dk)

Ca8 - Journeys
Incl. maps, history, description & travel (incl. Goethe's) of all places not listed above. (For Italian journey see Mg)

Cf - Monuments, portraits, busts, medals of Goethe and collections which include Goethe portraits.

Cf1 - Portraits of Goethe's contemporaries and collections which do not include Goethe.

Cg - Goethe celebrations, anniversaries. (Use date of celebration rather than publication in second line of call number)

Primarily for programs of celebrations, Festschriften, collections, speeches, poems on the occasion. Festschriften or collections for only one subject, or which have a very strong subject interest, may class with the subject, with extra classed card in Cg. Speeches which do not plainly state that they were delivered for a Goethe celebration class with subject without extra card in Cg. Books by one or two authors class with subject. Extra card should be made for Cg, if the book plainly states that it is published in honor of a celebration.

Cg1 - Goethe institutions, museums, collections and exhibitions. Also general exhibitions that have Goethe items in them.

Ch - Goethe in literature (Fiction, drama, poetry about Goethe) See also Zg.

Ci - Dedications to Goethe (i.e. Books dedicated to Goethe) Those in Zg are to be repres.in Speck catalogue Ck  - Literary criticism of Goethe up to 1835 (general); his value and relation to literature (cf. Goedeke's Geltung und Wirkung);
textual criticism.

Ck1  - Miscellaneous slight articles and books that have only chapters or pages on Goethe

Ck5  - Adverse criticism

Ck7  - Stage history of Goethe's works (general; for individual works see under each work). Includes movies.

Ck8  - Characters and motifs from Goethe's works (except Faust)

Ck9  - Illustrations to Goethe's works (general)

Ck91 - Illustrations to individual works (A-Z)

Ck99 - Faust in art (including Faust illustrations before Goethe, and caricatures by several artists)

   History and criticism and collections by several artists take date and author's initial in second line.

   Illustrations to Faust by individual artists (A-Z)

Ck99a - Related material (e.g. illustrated books having slight Faust connection) e.g. Corrodi, August. Deutsche Reime ...
 (Last plate contains 2 line quotation from Faust)
History of Criticism and Appreciation of Goethe up to 1935.

Goethe's Literary Relations.

Arranged by date of imprint.

D2 - History of criticism, Goethe scholarship, etc. (German and general). Collected criticism made to illustrate history of criticism (not miscellaneous collections of lectures, etc., which class with Goethe criticism in Ck)

D3 - Rezeptionsgeschichte + Cultivate

D4 - History of adverse criticism (as selected by Goedeke)
(Adverse criticism itself classes in Ck5)
A-Z Individual adverse critics (History of individual criticism and biography of critics)

D5 - Individual German Goethe "Forscher" A-Z (Curators, collectors, publishers, bibliographers of Goethe's works)

Here are classed:

a) all history of individual criticism;
b) criticism of special editions of Goethe's complete works. Reviews or criticism of a work about a single work of Goethe's class with the work under 6, see table (except Faust, Sa4-Sa5)
c) Criticism of individual biographies of German authorship. Criticism of correspondence classes in E.
d) biography and general criticism of "Forscher" who are noted only as "Forscher" and not in some other field (e.g. belles-lettres, music, science, etc.)

Note: Class "Forscher" of other countries by country.

Biography and criticism of "Forscher" who are noteworthy in some special field will class with the field (e.g. belles-lettres, music, etc.), but a work that deals only with such a person's criticism of Goethe classes here (see a) above.

In actual practice very little is classed here, as most of the "Forscher" have outstanding rank in other fields which attracts their biography to those fields. This class will take almost nothing except history of individual biography and criticism of Goethe.

Biography and criticism of William A. Speck, Carl F. Schreiber, and Curt von Faber du Faur class here.

D6 - Goethepreis der Stadt Frankfurt a.M.
Goethe's Literary Relations up to 1835.

(Goethe's value and relation to literature (general and German) is not to be separated from Goethe criticism. It will class in Ck)

Da2 - Goethe's knowledge of literature (general and German). Works dealing specifically with this subject class here. Works combining this subject with his value in literature or with criticism of Goethe class in Ck. Class here Goethe's critical opinions of literature and literary people, general and German. (Includes lists of Goethe's own library)

Da3 - Goethe's literary relations to German authors. A-Z.

Class here: a) Works on Goethe's relation

b) Comparison of Goethe's and author's works

c) Biography of non-contemporary authors.

Note: Biography of contemporary authors classes in Cal (regardless of Goethe's relation to such authors). General criticism of the works of German authors classes in Y. Only comparative criticism of Goethe and a German author classes here.

Db1-9 - Goethe and other literature (by country)

Under each: a) History of Goethe criticism - general and individual

b) Goethe's indebtedness to country's literature
Goethe's knowledge of country's literature
Goethe's influence on country's literature
Goethe's criticism of country's literature

c) Individual belles-lettres authors A-Z

Under each: 1) Goethe's literary and personal relation to author
2) Biography and criticism of author.

Note: Works of these authors which are not about Goethe or related to an individual work of Goethe's, class in Zg.

Authors noteworthy in some field outside Belles-lettres class with the field.
Db1 - Goethe and classical literature.

2 - Goethe in England.

3 - Goethe in America.

4 - Goethe in France.

5 - Goethe in Italy, Switzerland.

6 - Goethe in Spain.

7 - Goethe in Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Belgium.

8 - Goethe in eastern Europe (Poland, Estonia, Lithuania, Russia, Rumania, Serbia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary)

9 - Goethe in the Orient and Hebrew Literature.

Note: For general works, second line of call number takes date of imprint and letter for author, editor, etc.

For works concerning individual authors, second line of call number: Cutter number for author; third line, date of imprint and letter for author, editor, etc.
Goethe in Relation to Special Fields of Knowledge.

Class here: 1. Goethe's knowledge of the subject.
2. Goethe's relation to other people in the field (personal or professional)
3. Biography and criticism of individuals important in the field.
4. Works of these people not dealing with Goethe or related to one of his works.
5. Criticism of Goethe's scientific works, in Dg.

Note: Under each, general works have date of imprint, and works dealing with an individual have Cutter number.

Dc - Goethe in special aspects (general)

Ddl - Esthetics
2 - Language
3 - Technique and style
4 - Music
5 - Goethe's drawings
6 - Goethe and art, including criticism of Goethe's drawings and relations to artists.

De - Religion and ethics

Df - Philosophy (general)
2- Naturphilosophie
3- Psychology
   Goethe's knowledge of, and views on. (His own psychology classes in Cb)
   One subject for both: Goethe - Psychology.
4- Individual philosophers (A-Z)
5- Physiognomy (for Lavater see next leaf)
Classification for Lavater.

Df5, L31 - Biography and criticism, including correspondence,
Rhine trip with Goethe

L33 - Works on Goethe's contributions to the Physiognomische Fragmente

L39 - Related material (e.g. biography of Swiss artists which include painters of Goethe portraits and other associates)

Note: The Lavater material in the Speck collection which included the collected works and many editions of the Physiognomische Fragmente and other individual works, was largely transferred to ZgL8, L410-414 to join the books by Lavater collected by Prof. von Faber du Faur. -
In the Speck-Lavater class only material with a close Goethe interest remains. - See folder "Weeding Speck Collection" in vertical administration file.
Dg - Science. (Subject: Goethe - Knowledge - Science)

Dgl - Natural history, botany, zoology, biology, evolution, anatomy, morphology. (Subject G - Knowledge - Natural history or G - Knowledge - Botany [etc.])

3 - Physics, electricity, meteorology, geography, geology, mineralogy, chemistry, medicine, mathematics, astronomy, alchemy. (Subject: G - Knowledge - Science or G - Knowledge - Physics, [etc.])
Includes criticism of Die Farbenlehre.

4 - Technology. (Subject: G - Knowledge - Industrial arts)

Dh - Political and social views, including philosophy of history.

Dj - Goethe as educator.

Dk - Goethe as theatre director, including relations to actors and actresses.

Note: For Goethe as official see Cb2.

Dk - Goethe's knowledge of, and views on, subjects not covered by the above.

Dm - Study and teaching of Goethe.

Dp - Curiosa.
Goethe's Correspondence and Conversations.

E - Correspondence - Collections.

Arranged by date of first edition wherever it is obvious that there is more than one edition of the collection. If, however, it is not obvious, give date of imprint, even for collections having the same publisher.

Translations have language letter following date of first edition. If the edition from which the translation is made cannot be ascertained, give date of imprint. Criticism has y following date.

Note: Collections of letters which are primarily Goethe's correspondence class here. Goethe's letters, or extracts from his letters, collected to demonstrate his views on particular subjects, or to illustrate his characteristics, class here. e.g. his Correspondence. 1852. Goethe in Briefen und Gesprächen. (Extra classed card for subject to be made if subject aspect is important)

Letters of others class either with the biography of their writers or with the subject treated. e.g. Bode, W. Goethe in vertraulichen Briefen. D2

If such collections contain letters by or to Goethe, of importance, though these do not form the chief interest of the book (in Speck), extra class cards should be made for E.

Letters reporting personal interviews with Goethe class in EK.

In general, Goethe's correspondence with three or more individuals classes here. Letters to several members of one family class in Eb-Ec.
Eb - Goethe's correspondence with individuals.

(+A-Z, with date of imprint for both original language and translations. Criticism has y before date)

+Special scheme for Bettina von Arnim: A61 Biography and relations with Goethe

69 Criticism. General
(Criticism of an individual work has y before date)

Note: Letters of an individual to Goethe class here. Collected letters of an individual which contain many letters to others than Goethe, class with the biography of the writer and have extra class card for Eb. e.g. Goethe's mother. Correspondence. Ca5 Extra card Eb
659 659
880 880

Class here Goethe's correspondence with various members of one family (except with members of the Fürstenhaus, Ec-Ed)
If his correspondence with an individual member is published separately, this should be given next Cutter number.

Extra class reference cards should be made for each individual in the class for his biography.

Ec - Goethe's correspondence with members of the Fürstenhaus.
Collections. (Arranged by date of first edition if this can be ascertained) See note under E.

Ed - Goethe's correspondence with Karl August (Arranged by date of imprint. Translations, letter before date; criticism, y before date.)

Ed (A-Z) - Goethe's correspondence with individual members of the Fürstenhaus. (Arranged by date of imprint. Translations, letter before date; criticism, y before date.)

Note: Extra class reference cards should be made for each individual in his biography class.
Ek - Conversations or Personal interviews. Collections. (Arranged by date of first edition if this can be ascertained. See note under E)

Note: Reports of interviews, also letters containing such reports class here, if this is their chief interest for the Speck Collection; otherwise class with point of chief interest. If the book is classed elsewhere, extra class cards may be made for Ek.

Et - Conversations with Eckermann. (Arranged by date of imprint. Translations have language letter preceding date)

Em - Biography of Eckermann and related material to his Conversations. Collected works and diary. (Arranged by date of imprint and author's initial. Translations with language letter preceding date)

En - Conversations or Interviews of various individuals with Goethe. A-Z, date of imprint.

Note: Wherever the arrangement is by Cutter number, the language letter precedes the date.
Goethe's Collected Works.

H - Complete editions, or those nearly complete.

The arrangement here, and under each of the following divisions in H, is by date of imprint. If there are two or more editions in the same year give b, c, d, etc., after date. Translations have language letter before date; give a for English.

Ha - Selected works. Partial collections, prose and poetry.

These should contain whole works, or very long passages; brief passages and Sprüche class in Hdy.

Hb - Prose works.

Hc - Dramatic works.

Hd - Poems.

Hdy - Selections, Sprüche.

Class here Sprüche and selected brief passages.

Hf - Parodies of Goethe's Works. Collections.

Hk - Texts of sources of Goethe's works. Collections.

Note: In general, three or more works class in the H groups, while two works class with individual works. Certain distinct groups, as the Sesenheimer Lieder and Leipziger Liederbuch are classed with individual works.
Classification.

Is41-7  takes collected texts of Goethe's Schweizer Reise (1775, 1779, 1797) and works which contain texts of any two periods as Briefe aus der Schweiz 1. Abth. (1775) and 2. Abth. (1779)

Is51-4  Briefe aus der Schweiz. 1. Abth., or any texts concerning his journey of 1775.

Is61-4  Briefe aus der Schweiz, 2. Abth., and other texts about Goethe's Swiss journey in 1779.

Is651-4  Schweizer Reise (1797)

Reference made from Is51, Is61, Is64 to Is41 for texts published in collected editions. Note the nos. Is51, Is61, Is64 to be used for texts of the journeys of the individual years 1775, 1779, 1797, respectively.

References also made from Ks32 and Ms41.

Note: An extra classed card should be made for all texts of Briefe aus der Schweiz, 1. Abth. (1775) [Anhang zum Werther] Jc0.

Cataloguing.

Collected editions take heading:

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Schweizer Reise (1775), (1779, 1797)

Texts of any two journeys take date of journeys, e.g.

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Schweizer Reise (1775, 1779).

Texts of any one journey take date of that journey, e.g.

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Schweizer Reise (1775).

References to be made (under Goethe) from all specific titles.
Goethe's Individual Works, except Faust.

In general, arrangement is in a sequence by date of composition, according to the order given in Goethes. For arrangement under each work see Table following this outline of classes.

Tables for Goethe's Individual works, except Faust.

0. "UR. Paralipomena. Fragments"

Arrange by date of imprint.

1. TEXT.

Arrange by date of imprint. Various forms of the text, such as prose, verse, stage, etc., may be distinguished by a letter, a, b, c, before date, if necessary. In some works the prose form precedes the verse, and in others the verse precedes the prose, so that a, b, c, etc., could not be applied with the same meaning in all works. In most cases, no differentiation is necessary.

2. TRANSLATIONS.

Note: 3 may also be used for translations, as in Werther, where there are a great many English translations.

Arrange by date of first edition of each translation, with initial of translator following date. English without language letter, others with language letter following class number on first line.

Examples:

Lh2 English translation by Holcroft 801h

Lh31 French translation by Bitaubs 800b

In Werther: 2 for English translations; no translation letter.
3 for other languages, with translation letter following the 3.

Criticism of translations classes in 6.

4. PARODIES, WORKS INSPIRED BY, etc.

Cutter numbers for author in second line. "A" for anonymous parodies, for which no author can be found.

German parodies (no letter following 4 in top line)
English parodies (a following 4)
Other languages (translation letter following 4)
Translations have translation letter before date in third line.
Criticism have y before date in third line.

Parodies of a selection class with the work parodied in 5.
PARODIES. (Continued)

Examples:

Jc4a German parody
P2
895

Jc4a French parody
K3
895

Jc4a French translation of English parody
K3
1898

Jc4a Criticism of English parody
K3

5. SELECTIONS.

An edition of a large part of the text, though not a complete text, classes in 1.

Collected selections, arrange by date of imprint.

Individual poems.

Cutter number for poem in second line, followed by the numbers of the table 1-7 on same line.

1. Text. (Date of imprint)

Example: Nb5 German translation of Mignon
M61
799

2. Translation. (Translation letter following the 2, except English, which has no translation letter)

Date of first edition followed by initial of translator.

Example: Nb5 English translation of Mignon
M62
799k

Nb5 French translation of Mignon
M62i
799p
5. SELECTIONS (Continued)

4. Parodies.

   - German parodies (no letter following 4)
   - English parodies (a following 4)
   - Other languages (translation letter following 4)

   Translations have translation letter before date in third line. Criticsisms have y before date in third line.

   Examples:
   - Nb5 German parody M64 of Mignon 799
   - Nb5 English parody M64a of Mignon 799
   - Nb5 French parody M641 of Mignon 799
   - Nb5 French translation M64a of English parody 1799
   - Nb5 Criticism of M64a English parody y799

6. Criticism.

   Example:
   - Nb5 Criticism of M66 Mignon 851c

6. CRITICISM (Includes stage history)

   Arrange by date of first edition.

7-8. SOURCES AND RELATED MATERIAL.

   Arrange by date of first edition, if easily ascertainable, otherwise by date of imprint.

   Unless there is a great deal of material, no distinction is to be made between source and related material. If there is so much material that it seems best to distinguish:

   7 Source

   8 Related material

   7 Where no distinction is made.
GOETHE'S FAUST.

Arranged by date of publication.

R - Texts.

Ra1 - Urfaust,

Individual selections from Urfaust if also in Faust are to class with Faust: (e.g. König von Thule)

Ra2 - Fragment (1790)

Ra3 - Translations of Urfaust,

Ra4 - Works about Urfaust and Fragment,

Rh1 - Faust I., Theil. (1808) (Exclusive of school editions)

Rh2 - Helena. (1827)

Rh2 - Translations of Helena (Translation letter after Rh2 on top line, before date of first edition on second line)

Rh21 - Works about Helena, and criticism of special editions and translations of Helena text.

Rh31 - Faust. II., Theil. (1833) (Exclusive of school editions)

Rh41 - Faust. I. and II., Theil published together. (Exclusive of school editions)

Rh42 - Faust. Selections. (From either part)

When the whole of Faust or of the first or second part has been translated, a selection from such a translation classes with the translation in Ro-Rz.

Rh42(a-z) Translation of selections (date of first edition, and initial of translator)

Passages from translations which class in Ro-Rz are classed with the whole work in Ro-Rz.

Rh51 - Faust Paralipomena.

Rh54 - Works about Faust Paralipomena.

Rh61 - School editions. (Both parts)
The following list contains all the translations given by Goedeke, and others, which are in the Speck collection but not in Goedeke.

All the translations which are in Speck in any edition have a check mark.

When selections only have been translated, these class in Rb42.

References in the following list have been made to Rb42, where a class card is found, even though the book may stand in some other location.

Translations of the Urfaust and Helena are classed in Ra3 and Rb2, respectively.

For criticism of special translations see Sc4.

Collections by various translators take date of publication in second line. Translators are given individual class numbers, according to the chronological sequence of the translations (dates in the following tables are dates of first edition).

Under each translator arrange:

1. 1st Teil ........................ (a before date of publication)
2. 2d " ............................ (b " " " " "
3. Complete Faust .................... (c " " " "
4. Selections [i.e. parts from the translations which class in Rc-Rz....](d " " " "

Classification for Schiller

Here are classed chiefly works which have Goethe contents or other connection with Goethe. Schiller alone classes in Zg.

Actually very few books will stand in these classes. Classed cards are made for these groups mainly to bring out Schiller aspects in works which treat of both Goethe and Schiller. A few works stand here to which Goethe contributed, e.g. Goethe's introduction to Carlyle's biography of Schiller and Goethe's poem on Schiller's skull. These have extra class cards in their respective places among Goethe's individual works I-Q. [In a few cases a second copy of Goethe-Schiller biography is placed here; a copy of Schiller's Wallenstein from Goethe's own library is here, while another copy stands in Zg18.]

Books containing biographies and criticisms of both Schiller and Goethe class with Goethe, but should have a card under X.

For personal relations with Goethe see Ca3.

Arranged by date of publication.

X  - Biography

Xa3 - Anniversaries, celebrations, etc. (Date of anniversary)

Schiller in fiction, drama, etc.
Works by Various Authors.

Collected works of other authors, German and non-German, as well as individual works which have no connection with Goethe have been transferred to Zg. In general very little will class here, outside of collected works of an author, containing a work related to one of Goethe's, and a work by another author which Goethe criticized (the criticism itself classes in Uf), or books with Goethe provenance, etc. Yw, German "Lesebücher", have mostly gone to Sterling or Palmer-Schreiber Library; two used by Mr. Speck were kept.

If the works contain translations of Goethe's works, they are classed with Goethe's works.

Criticism of German authors, exclusive of their relations with Goethe class in Yb. For literary comparison of German authors with Goethe see Da3. Criticism of authors of other nationalities classes in Db2-9. (Schiller and Goethe Ga3; criticism of Schiller Zg)

Ya - Collections by several authors.

Yb - German

Yc - English

Yd - American

Yf - French

Yn - Russian

Yw - German "Lesebücher", etc. (A-Z)

Yx - Almanacs. (A-Z)

Yz - Periodicals published during Goethe's lifetime.

A-Z; criticism y following Cutter number.

Note: Periodicals (Yx Almanacs, and Yz Periodicals during Goethe's lifetime) have been transferred to Zg when they were purely literary and contained contributions by various German authors. Almanacs published after 1870, containing Goethe or Faust items are being kept here, if important enough, otherwise transferred to Main Library.)
Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832.

Divided as follows:

I. Manuscripts. (To be used for facsimiles of manuscripts in Goethe's hand. For works about Goethe's manuscripts see subject subdivision Autographs)

II. Collected Works.

A. Works. (Date of publication for German texts; translations alphabetically by language, using the phrase Eng.tr., French tr., etc., and the name of the translator or the date of publication if anonymous or by various translators)

This heading is to include complete collections and also partial collections which include more than one of the following divisions.

B. Works. Drama. (Same arrangement as for Works)

For collections and partial collections of dramas.

C. Works. Drama. Musical settings. (Subdivided for collections by different composers by date; by one composer, by name of composer)

The subdivision Musical settings to be used where text is present (no subject is to be made in this case). Where there is no text, the subject subdivision Music is to be used directly after Goethe's name: e.g. Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von - Music.

D. Works. Poems. (Same arrangement as for Works)

For collections and partial collections of poems. See also individual collections with definite titles: Annette. Chinesisch-deutsche Jahres- und Tageszeiten. Gesellige Lieder. Leipziger Liederbuch. Sesenheim Lieder. Xenien, etc.

E. Works. Poems. Musical settings. (Same arrangement as for Works)

F. Works. Prose. (Same arrangement as for Works)

For collections and partial collections of prose.

Note: A partial collection is any collection containing three or more works or long passages of three or more works.

G. Selections. (Same arrangement as for Works)

This division is used only for minor selections and "Sprüche", not for selected works which are considered as partial collections and take the subdivision Works. Selections classed in Ha-Hd take subdivision Works, those in Hd Selections.
H. Conversations. (Subdivided by date of first edition if this can be ascertained for conversations with various individuals; conversations with one individual subdivided by the name of the individual; with two, by name of the first, with an added entry for Goethe. Conversations. Name of second. See also note under Ex in Classification scheme)

I. Correspondence. (Same arrangement as for Conversations)

III. Individual works.

The name of the work follows Goethe's name in the heading, e.g., Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Werther

Date of publication for German texts. Translations alphabetically by language using the phrase Eng.tr., French tr., etc., and the name of the translator or date of publication if anonymous.

A single poem is given title of poem if it has a distinctive name and reference is made from Goethe. First line of poem, e.g., Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Mignon. With reference from Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Kennst du das Land. First line is given if there is no distinctive title.

Subdivisions used under individual works. (For Faust see special list)

Selections. (Same arrangement as for Works)

In dramas, or works containing poems, this subdivision has been used for a collection of poems or scenes or passages. Its use has been made necessary chiefly on account of the Musical settings of such works. Selections from prose works, e.g., Dichtung und Wahrheit, take no such subdivision.

A single poem from a larger work is given name or first line of poem directly after Goethe's name. Reference should be made from the Work. Selections, e.g., Wilhelm Meisters Lehrjahre. Selections, Mignon.

Musical settings. (Subdivided by date for collections by various composers; by name of composer, for work by one composer)

Note: Any of the above forms when used as subject should have dates omitted; e.g., Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von. Conversations. Eckermann.
Author Headings to be used for Goethe's Faust.

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 1749-1832. Faust.

Divided as follows:

Whole Faust.

Faust (date) for German texts.

Faust translations alphabetically by language - under each by translator (e.g., Faust. Eng. tr. Martin) Anonymous translations by date of first edition.

First part of Faust.

Faust. 1. Th. (Same arrangement as for complete Faust)

Second part of Faust.

Faust. 2. Th. (Same arrangement as for complete Faust)

Faust. Helena.

Faust. Paralipomena.

Faust. Urfaust.

Faust. Libretto. Name of composer)

Faust. Selections. (Used for selections from whole or either part)

Faust. Selections (Individual scene or song)

Faust. Stage adaptation. (Used for whole or either part) (Name of adapter)

For Faust music headings see special sheet.
Faust.

I. Under this heading are entered editions of the chapbook ("Volksbuch") first published Frankfurt 1587 under title Historia von D. Johann Fausten.

They are arranged by date of imprint. Special versions have name of editor in parentheses after date of imprint, e.g. Faust. 1599. (Widman)

Facsimiles and reprints have designation of original edition in parentheses, e.g. Faust. 1568. (Spiese, 1587)

Translations are arranged by language and date of imprint, e.g. Faust. English. 1620. Translations of special editions have date of original in parentheses following date of imprint, e.g. Faust. English. 1900 (1592)

II. The "Wagner Volksbuch" (from Wagner, famulus of Faust) has title in the English version "Second report of Doctor John Faustus." It is entered under the heading Faust (Wagner) followed by date of imprint, e.g. Faust (Wagner) 1594

Translations are arranged by language and date of imprint, e.g. Faust (Wagner) English. 1907. Reprints, facsimiles, etc., of a special edition have also date of the original in parentheses following date of publications, e.g. Faust (Wagner) English. 1925 (1594)

III. Editions of the puppet-play are entered under the heading Faust (Puppet-play). Translations are arranged by language, e.g. Faust (Puppet-play) Bohemian.

Note: "No copy of the older popular drama has as yet been found. An attempt to restore it on the basis of the puppet-play versions has been made by R. Kralik, Das Volks-Schauspiel von Dr. Faust, erneuert, Wien, 1895. cf. Payer von Thurn's introduction to F. Weidmann, J. Faust, Wien, 1911, p. 1 at end, cf. also F. Bobertag, Volksbücher des 16. Jahrhunderts in Deutsche National-Litteratur, hrsg. v. J. Kürschner, 25, Bd."
- copied from note in Library of Congress catalogue.

IV. Certain books of magic supposed to have been written by "Dr. Faust" are entered under Faust, attributed author.

The printer who is sometimes confused with the legendary character is Fust, Johann, ca. 1400-1466.

Versification.
Musical classification.

Music items in the von Faber collection were added. Large cards were made for all in "Music" file. Items containing compositions to works by Goethe were represented on small cards in the general book catalogue.

Musical compositions are kept together in one file alphabetically by composer.

History and criticism of music, or biography of musicians, class in Dd4 (general), Sj1 (Faust music).

Bibliography of music classes in Be.

The notation for musical compositions consists of a stamp "Music" followed on second line by Cutter number for composer. The third line (book number) is developed as follows:

All compositions having opus numbers take that number as a book number, followed by letters b, c, d, etc., for various editions. If we have only one edition and do not know definitely what edition it is, use opus number without letter. Individual or collected selections from a larger work bearing an opus number take letter x after opus number (followed by date if necessary to distinguish editions, or different selections. If only one edition, use without date.)

Compositions having no opus numbers take as third line of call number the initial letter of the work followed by imprint date.

Collections of a given composer, not bearing an opus number, are kept together at end of a composer's individual works by using y preceding date of imprint. General collections where the Speck interest is in only one composer (e.g. Choice German melodies, which contains several Goethe songs composed by Reichardt) are classed with the composer taking z before date of imprint.

TRANSSCRIPTIONS.

There are two kinds of transcriptions.

1. Those in which the original composition has simply been rescored for a different instrument (these enter under original composer)

2. Those in which the original composition has been used as a theme and expanded into virtually another work. (These enter under transcriber and usually bear an opus number under his name) e.g. Liszt's transcription of Schubert's Erlkönig.

In the Speck collection all transcriptions class with the original composer, with extra classed card under the transcriber for those entering under the transcriber. In classing this material, use the opus number of the original work followed by y and a fourth line consisting of Cutter number for the transcriber, adding b, c, d, etc., for various editions (e.g. S56 = Liszt's transcription of Schubert's Erlkönig).

Transcriptions of compositions without opus numbers take initial of transcriber following initial of work: e.g. S57 for work, S57 for transcription. (Date in call number is date of imprint)

A collection of transcriptions from a given composer classes after composer's own works taking a succeeding Cutter number, followed by date if a collection by various transcribers, or Cutter number for transcriber if only one. (cf. S57 for Liszt's transcriptions of Schubert)

Thus a composer might have under his Cutter number any or all of the following notations:

S57 opus 2 number S57 selection 2x from 930 preceding S57 transcription 2y of L5 preceding

S57 individual work S57 selection S57 transcription f830 without fa910 fx910

S57 collection by composer S57 general collection where Speck interest is only in one composer y850

S58 collection of transcriptions S58 collection of transcriptions
898 by several transcribers L5 by individual transcriber

Collections of songs by more than one composer class at beginning of music using notation A1-A50 assigned arbitrarily but endeavoring to keep an alphabetical arrangement of titles. (Cutter numbers in A take two letters and begin therefore with Aa)

Anonymous compositions class with collections in A51-99.
SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT FOR VOLUMINOUS SCORES. Follow for all where possible.

Gounod, Faust.  G57

Full score. (Words and music, with or without accompaniment)
   Original: (French) date without letter.
   German: a followed by date.
   English: b followed by date.

Selections from either version.  S77 (Date in third line)  60x Transcription.  S77 (Third line, date for collections or 60y Cutter number for individual transcriber)

There are several classes of music from the standpoint of Goethe interest.

1. Compositions for Goethe's works.

a. Separate works. (Except Faust, see special sheet)
   1. Containing text.
      Take added entry: Goethe (the work) Musical settings. (composer)
      e.g. Goethe. Erlköning. Musical settings. Schubert. (Do not make added entry for translator (if any) if we already have text or translator without music.

   2. Without text. (e.g. Ouvertures, symphonies, etc.)
      Take subject: Goethe. (the work) - Music.

b. Collections of Goethe compositions.
   1. By one composer.
      (composer). Without text take subject: Goethe - Music.

   2. By several composers.

c. General collections containing some Goethe compositions.

   These would ordinarily have an added entry traced for Speck only, for the Goethe items; but since we are making a special index to music under titles of Goethe-works it seems unnecessary to make any special added entries for Speck only. (Index explained below)

2. Material directly or indirectly related to Goethe's works.

a. The Faust material is the best example of this. There are compositions inspired by Goethe's Faust that have nothing to do with the text. (Take subject: Goethe. Faust - Musical compositions.) There are compositions to other Faust legends (e.g. Don Juan; Manfred; Klingemann's Faust) (take subject: Faust - Musical compositions) And there are compositions connected in name only (e.g. Mephistopheles polka; Faustus, a musical romance)

b. Music to parodies of Goethe or to works inspired by one of his works.

c. Compositions written for Goethe celebrations. Take subject: Goethe - Anniversaries, etc. (date) and extra classed card in Cg.

d. Compositions dedicated to Goethe. No subject for Goethe, but extra classed card in Ci.

e. Compositions dedicated to other important people (e.g. Carl August). Extra classed card; no subject.

f. Compositions where composer himself is the only important thing (e.g. compositions by Goethe's grandson) Extra classed card.

g. Compositions to Schiller's works. Extra classed card.

h. Compositions to works where Goethe is a character. Take subject: Goethe in fiction, drama, poetry, etc.; and extra classed card in Ch.
1. Operas using Goethe's text as libretto.

   a. Enter libretto alone under Goethe. Faust. Libretto. (Name of composer)

   b. Enter music with or without words under composer and give subject 1. Goethe.
      Faust - Musical compositions.

      Note: No added entry is to be made for the text of the words or translator when published with the music.

      For publications of words and music (for which we have no separate libretto) make reference; e.g.

      Faust. Musikdrama ...
      For music, with or without libretto,
      see
      Zöllner, Heinrich, 1854-

2. Operas using librettos by authors other than Goethe, but based on Goethe's Faust.

   a. Enter libretto alone under Librettist and make subject:
      Goethe. Faust - Librettos.
      Make also a reference from composer; e.g.

      Gounod, Charles François
      Faust
      For libretto alone
      see
      Barbier, Jules

      Note: This reference need not be made for compositions already in catalogue which have note "For editions without music see ..."

   b. Enter music with or without words under composer and make subject:
      In future make reference from Librettist; e.g.

      Barbier, Jules
      Faust
      For music, with or without libretto,
      see
      Gounod, Charles François

      Note: This reference need not be made for librettos already in catalogue which have note "For editions with music see ..."

3. Operas which have no Goethe basis.

   Enter librettos under librettist and make subject: Faust - Librettos.

   Enter music under composer and make subject: Faust - Musical compositions.
Make same subject for music to special Faust dramas such as Marlowe's, Lessing's, etc.

References from librettist and composer to be made in future as noted above.

Make title references in future from operas; e.g.

Il Don Giovanni. (Opera)
   For music see
   Mozart, Wolfgang Amadeus
   For libretto alone see
   Da Ponte, —

4. Songs and scenes from Goethe's Faust. (Collections)

Enter under composer and make subject: Goethe, Faust - Musical compositions.
Make added entry for text; e.g. Goethe, Faust, Selections (date) or Goethe, Faust, Selections. Eng. tr. (translator)

5. Separate songs and scenes.

Enter under composer and make subject: Goethe, Faust - Musical compositions.
If words accompany music, make added entry Goethe, Faust, Selections. (title of selection or group). Date.

6. Parodies of Goethe's Faust. (Musical versions)

Take subjects: Goethe, Faust - Parodies, travesties, etc.
   Goethe, Faust - Musical compositions.

Parodies of special operas (e.g. Gounod's) take subjects:
   1. Gounod, Faust - Parodies, travesties, etc.

Subject 1 should be given to the version with music and not to the libretto alone if we have both versions.

7. Stage adaptations, dramatic paraphrases of Goethe's Faust for which music has been composed.

Take subject: Goethe, Faust - Librettos for editions without music and Goethe, Faust - Musical compositions for editions with music Editions without music have an x made from composer if he is easily identified; e.g.

Lang, Adolf
   Faust
   For libretto alone
   see
   Williams, Arthur
Music Index.

A special analytical index of titles to Goethe's works in the music collection has been made on cards in a separate file, according to the following rules:

1. All separately published compositions are represented there under the title of Goethe's work for which music was composed.

2. All general collections containing some Goethe songs have been indexed under each of Goethe's works contained therein.

3. All small collections of Goethe compositions (e.g., Six songs from Goethe) have been indexed under titles of the separate songs.

4. All larger collections of Goethe songs published during his lifetime have been indexed under individual titles. (Unfinished, 11/29/33)

5. Later collections have not been indexed.

Note: The index is only to titles of Goethe's works and does not index the composer of songs in the large collections. Such an index would be helpful.

Arrangement of cards is as follows:

1. Separate songs indexed under title. Goedeke has been used as authority for title and references have been made from first line and from variant titles.

2. Songs from larger works (e.g., Das Veilchen from Erwin und Elmire, Clärchen's Lied from Egmont) are indexed under the work from which they are taken, with references from titles of the songs. This is contrary to the practice in the regular catalogue and has been done to enable Mr. Schreiber to gather quickly the selections from a given work for the printed catalogue, since the classification does not group them together as it does in the book classification. The rule is broken, however, for Der Erlkönig, which is indexed under its own title rather than under Die Fischerin, since it is so well known.

Under all of such larger works except Faust, the cards are arranged all together by composer regardless of the selection set, but the selection is indicated on each card so that they can be rearranged by separate selection if necessary.

Under Faust the cards are in groups according to the following order:

1. Faust. (The whole opera and collected scenes)

2. Selections. (Collected songs)
3. Separate songs alphabetically by title or first line.

4. Parodies.

5. Music inspired by Goethe's Faust (without words). This includes music inspired by special scenes.

6. Faust puppet-play.

7. Faust parallels (e.g. Don Juan, Lenau's Faust, Merlin, etc.) Arranged separately according to each title.

8. Miscellaneous inspirational music or connected by name only - not directly related to Goethe's Faust.

The keeping up of the following catalogues and records is the responsibility of the Librarian of the Collection:

OUTSTANDING ORDERS FILE.

When ordering from a dealer's catalogue, a card is made for each item and filed in the Outstanding Orders File. Care must be taken that when the ordered item arrives the card for it is removed.

DESIDERATA FILE.

Kept separately for von Faber and Goethe collection. When a report comes in that an order was not filled, the record of this order must be removed from Outstanding Orders File and filed in the Desiderata file.

ACCESSIONS FILE.

Kept separately for von Faber and Goethe collection. When the order is filled, the accession slip which usually comes with the book is filed in the Accessions file. If no accession slip is with the volume, one is made at this time and filed. This also applies to gifts received from various sources.

Note: No accessions records are made for the items selected for the German Literature Collection from gifts or purchases in lots which are not listed individually in the Main Accessions File in YUL.

Music, Portraits, Pictures, etc., Manuscripts, Miscellaneous are filed at the end of the Accessions File under these captions.

Current accessions are marked with a flag for a current year. At the end of the academic year these flags are removed.

DONOR FILE.

A record on larger cards is made under donor for all gifts sent especially to the Collections. The Donor File is arranged in two alphabets:

1) Current (academic year; 2) Dead file: 1930-
(A donor card is moved forward into the Current file if a new gift can be added to an existing donor card)
The donor cards records:

Donor
Date of gift
Address of donor
Name of book or description of item or record of sum of money.

No records are made under donor for items selected from the stacks or large gifts for the Goethe Collection.
Newly arrived books, after they have been accessioned and searched in Sterling Library, are forwarded to the Librarian of the Collection with a blue slip inserted. Dust jackets are now to be kept on the volumes. Formerly these were retained and filed in special boxes according to the call no. of the book.

Cards are to be made for the following catalogues:

I. THE SPECK CLASSED CATALOGUE.

A large card, filed by shelf number of book, was once the main card in Speck, and still is to be made to keep this file complete. Since December 1963, when the collections were moved to the Beinecke Library, a small card is the main card, filed in with all the holdings in this building. (For further information on the functions of the large card see p. 2 of the introduction in this volume.)

For all rare books by or about Goethe published during his lifetime, rare book cataloguing is followed, giving end-lines and capitalization of t. - p., full imprint, collation, signatures, etc. Modern Speck books may be catalogued according to the new rules.

Large and small main cards contain tracings for all other cards in set, and checking for authorities.

Extra classed cards are made to bring out various important aspects of the book. The extra call number is typed or written in red, followed by word see and shelf number of book, e.g.

Ca5
894w (in red)
see
E66
894w

A note should be given to show the reason for the extra class card, if this is not obvious.

(NOTE: When Goethe is the author, the title of the work should be changed in the heading to agree with classification, for which the extra class card is made. References for this work should be traced on the extra classed card as well as on the main card.

( NOTE: Additions to the classes H-Q, Ue-Uh, and Music (except Faust) are to have typed above the entry the note:
NOT IN PRINTED CATALOGUE
in order that the supplement to vol. I of the printed catalogue can be compiled)
II. THE MAIN CATALOGUE (on small cards)

The former "Index Card" is now the main card carrying all information and tracings for secondary entries.

These cards contain entries for all printed material catalogued and classed (Books, Enblattdrucke, Maps, Music). Each item catalogued is represented in the Beinecke Library book file by main, added author, title and series entries (with necessary references), personal (including Goethe), institutional, and topical subject entries. Tracings are for all entries made for this file.

NOTE: Added entries are made for all editions when Goethe is the author. For official and public main catalogues the general rule of making added entries for only one edition is made (Cf. Catalogue Department, Routines)

NOTE: Series added entries are always made for series traced as I, Ser., but may also be made for certain ones selected as important from a Goethe aspect.

III. MAIN AND OFFICIAL CATALOGUES.

Each item catalogued for YGGL is represented in the Main and Official catalogues (except analytics which have Goethe connection only, and some minor pamphlets, reprints, etc.)

Subjects, added entries and references are assigned and traced for the Official and Main catalogues according to general rules of the Library, with a complete representation of subject entries under Goethe. (Cf. Check list of "Subject subdivisions under Goethe" in Classification Scheme).

Note, that books which have been selected for the Collection for special reasons (e.g. books dedicated to Goethe, or a general work containing an item by or about Goethe, etc.) are represented in the Main catalogue according to the general subjects only. Analytics made for the Speck catalogue for such works are not represented in the Main Library.

IV. SHELF LIST.

Small shelf list cards are made for the Speck Collection.

V. GOETHE IN AMERICA CHECK LIST.

An extra card (small) is made for every item by or about Goethe published in America. (This Check list may not be complete; it is being compiled in anticipation of a volume "Goethe in America" to be published in the future.)

OTHER CATALOGUES.

1) Medals. (Cf. Bibliography and Vocabulary compiled by Mrs. Shiras)

The catalogue of medals is to be kept up by the Librarian of the Collection. Cards for the artists are interfiled with the "Artists File". See catalogue for form of subject and artist cards.
2) Portraits. (cf. Bibliography compiled by Mrs. Shiras)

The Catalogue of Portraits is arranged in two alphabets:
1. under subject of portrait
2. under artists and engravers (now filed in Artists file) and is to be kept up by the Librarian of the Collection.

(NOTE: Only important portraits are to be catalogued.)

3) Goethe Portraits.

(1) Busts (not catalogued)
(2) Masks (not catalogued)
(3) Monuments (not catalogued)
(4) Goethe Portraits*
(5) Silhouettes (Uncatalogued)
(6) Statuettes (uncatalogued)
(7) Goethe im Bild (Fanciful pictures of Goethe or Goethe in group pictures) (uncatalogued)

*Goethe portraits arranged by artists. (The cards for engravers are in the "Artists File"). - This work has not been revised. (Some cards are still in the folders with the pictures).

(Note: For purposes of convenience all Goethe portraits for which cards have not been made have been sorted according to artist and put into folders marked "Uncat. Material". It may be that some of these portraits should be catalogued.)

4) Views.

The Catalogue of Views is arranged under two alphabets:
1. under place
2. under artists and engravers (filed in "Artists File") and is to be kept up by the Librarian of the Collection. Only important plates are catalogued. The classification is included in this book: p.

5) Illustrations to Goethe's Works. (Plates)

Important illustrations to Goethe's works are catalogued by the Librarian of the Collection. The Catalogue of Illustrations to Goethe's works is arranged in two alphabets:
1. under the title of works illustrated
2. under artists and engravers (filed in "Artists File")

(NOTE: Illustrations published as volumes are classed in Ck9)

(NOTE: Illustrated editions are indexed under artist and engraver in the Main Catalogue in Beinecke and catalogued and classed according to text)

5a) ARTISTS FILE.

Artists, engravers, etc, for all of the foregoing are put together in one file.
6) Theater Programs.

Theater programs have been listed under author (Goethe preceding all others) and by title of play (incl. commemorative productions for Goethe anniversaries, etc.)

7) Manuscripts.

For treatment of manuscripts in the German Literature Collection see Anglo-American Cataloging Rules and folder "Manuscripts - Cataloguing."

8) Music.

Printed music for works by Goethe as well as the music from the von Faber Collection is listed in one file. The v. Faber items are marked in lower right hand corner on large card. The shelf list is at the end of the Speck Collection shelf list. All other cards for music are interfiled in Beinecke Library book catalogue and the YUL catalogues. For classification of music see p.

9) Binder's Charge File.

Duplicate green slips giving call number, author and short title (as they are to be given on spine of book) are made for all books sent to the binder - one to be sent with the book, one kept in file in Zg Office. The making of these charges and the discharging of the books is the responsibility of the Librarian of the collection.

CLASSIFICATION OF PAMPHLETS

UNCATALOGUED PAMPHLETS

Pamphlets (reprints, dissertations and slight books under 100 p., clippings, offprints) are stored in the Vertical Pamphlet files (oversizes in the large flat cases) in the stacks. In general all separately published items have been catalogued; only a few of the significant reprints in the pamphlet file have been fully catalogued.

(NOTE: There is no reference in the classified catalogue to the uncatalogued pamphlets. The classing and cataloguing of the pamphlets is the responsibility of the Librarian of the collection.)
Conference on cataloguing of the German Literature Collection.

January 17, 1949.

Copies for: Mr. Babb
Mrs. Livingston
Miss Strout
German Literature Collection Files

DEFINITION OF THE GERMAN LITERATURE COLLECTION: A rare book collection. Rare German books at present in the stacks and Rare Book Room are to be transferred to the Collection unless they have some other association which is more important. The curators should, in the course of cataloguing the von Faber Collection, decide which items are not rare and which should therefore be excluded.

CATALOGUING AND CLASSIFICATION OF von FABER COLLECTION:

1. Reference books, bibliographies, catalogues to be fitted into Speck classification and shelved together.

2. Periodicals to be classed together and set up at the beginning of the classification scheme; Exception: On-man-periodicals to be classed with the man.

3. Translations into German to be classed with the translator unless the translator is unknown or unimportant.

4. 18th century authors: Collected works, individual works, and biography and criticism to be classed together; individual works to be classed by date of first edition.

5. Works of Goethe's contemporaries now in Speck Collection: transfer of Schiller's works from Speck to the von Faber Collection or to the stacks held in abeyance; works of other authors, if not numerous, may be put in Zg or sent to main library.*

* Now done, - 1958.
I. Fullness.

The purpose of the catalogue card is to tell the reader that a particular work (and what edition of it) is in the Library; beyond this the card does not need to copy the title-page. Omissions (indicated by three dots) should be employed much more extensively than is done by Library of Congress. (Titles of subordinate parts of the volume should be mentioned, according to the general rules, i.e. if important for contents, subject, or added author entries, or for literary or bibliographical relationship).

II. Transcription.

No typed card can give any useful typographical picture of the appearance of a title-page, and no scholarly reader would dare accept a card without examining the book. Therefore, the general rules on capitalization are to be followed. [Exception: When the existence of a variant is known or suspected, the transcription may be elaborated to indicate the difference; but observe that a very brief note can often indicate the difference more clearly than a long transcription.]

III. Imprint.

In general, give complete imprint, following the order as it appears in the book, since the juxtaposition of names is an important part of publishing history. [Exception: (a) when a book is fully described in a bibliography, use the conventional form; (b) when a list of names is included, as in some of the co-operative undertakings, use"[etc., etc.]" after the first name. Use arabic numerals for date unless the reproduction of the roman numerals has significance.

IV. Collation.

A reference to an authoritative modern bibliography in which a full description is found is often sufficient to identify the book. (This is the normal procedure for Incunabula). The form "[Fully described in ... [author's or authors' surname, initials (if a common name), brief title, date]" is to be used when the book agrees with the printed description and the note of signatures may be omitted.
When Yale's copy does not agree with the printed description, especially if the differences may be the result of errors in the bibliography, the form "Cf. ..." may be used.

The record of differences between copies, if complicated, may be noted on a sheet laid in the book.

When no bibliographical description is available, the signatures will normally be given on the face of the card. (They may be omitted at the discretion of the cataloguer; e.g. for small leaflets.) [Note: In transferring books from the stacks to the Rare Book Room, it is not necessary to collate the book according to signatures, unless a problem of edition arises in recataloguing.] Cancels or other peculiarities, when noted in collating are recorded on the face of the cards. A cancel is a revision of a signature as it was originally printed, and the collation by signatures is intended to be an explanation of how the book was printed, as well as a guarantee of completeness. [Note: The recording of cancels is not, however, a guarantee that the book contains no cancels other than those recorded, and the cataloguer should ordinarily not make a desperate search for cancels.]

V. Bibliographical notes.

When a significant variation (of edition or issue) is known and not made clear by the statement on the title-page, a brief note should be added indicating the chief distinction between editions; e.g. "The second printing of 1521, with the device of J. Petit."

To indicate a resetting of type use the form:

--- --- Another edition
Printed from different setting of type.

To indicate minor typographical differences, not indicative of issues, use the form:

--- --- Variant copy. [This is a revision in terminology.]
Minor typographical variations found in the different copies may be noted on a slip laid in the book. A thorough search to discover all such minor variations need not be made.

Title vignette, borders, headpieces, initials, kind of type - these usually need not be mentioned.

Binding variants (chiefly for later books) are only to be mentioned when the volume is kept because of differences in publisher's bindings. [Note: Binding variants of works published in author's lifetime should usually be kept, in the field of belles-lettres, even though the books are shelved in the stacks]. An interesting collector's binding (often signed by the binder) may be noted on the back of the card, and a card made for the file of "Binding specimens" which will be kept in the Bibliography Room.

VI. Association.

An Author's presentation copy should be recorded on the face of the card, and also the name of an eminent owner - especially when the book was purchased or presented because of its association value. Other owners can be put on back of card, and copied by typist on the face of the Rare Book Room card.

VII. The date 1800 is to be interpreted elastically: many books printed before 1800 need not be described fully, and an occasional book printed later may deserve full description with careful collation by signatures or notes of cancels. Note that an unrecorded work, or an unrecorded edition of an important author or significant period of printing, should be more fully described than a work which is bibliographically described elsewhere.

VIII. It is not necessary to correct printed or mimeographed cards to fit Yale's practice of noting capitals, omissions, et al. These rules apply only when the cataloguing is initiated at Yale. [Note: Cards from the Folger Library are frequently too elaborate and confusing to be used for reproducing. These should be shortened. Printed or mimeographed cards for other editions or issues should always be left intact in the Library of Congress Depository, even though they may be used as "copy" for reproducing.]

IX. Individual books will always present special problems that no general plan can cover. A good explanatory note is often clearer than any rigid adherence to a formula of description. An intelligent decision in each case is more important than, and will take precedence over, formal rules in recording bibliographical descriptions.
